HELTER DENIES EVERY CHARGE

Mrs. Helter Relates Her Experience With Diamond Jack.

ALL THE TESTIMONY IS NOW IN

The Jury Has Gone Home For Sunday, and the Arguments Will Be Heard Monday. Judge Eason's Charge Listed For That Evening.

The end of the Helter-Roche trial is in sight. For a dozen days the battle has been in progress, but the testimony was completed today at noon and Judge Eason announced that Monday would be devoted to argument and he would charge the jury in the evening.

Mr. Rausch will open for Helter. Captain James will follow for Roche, and Judge Hunter, Hon. J. C. Adams and Judge Hunt will address the jury.

George W. Helter and Mrs. Helter were put on the stand in rebuttal this morning. Helter denied the statements against his character.

TESTIMONY IN REBUTTAL.

A Number of Witnesses Put in the Chair by the Plaintiff.

Frank G. Kinsey, of Port Washington, was put on the stand. He said: "George Helter and I had some business to transact May 11. He came in on the train with his wife and stayed all night. The next morning Helter went to Eckert's livery stable and got a rig. Then he and his wife drove to his folks. I next saw him in Coshocton the following Monday evening. I saw him again one week from that day. He was on the train between Newcomerstown and Port Washington."

"What relation are you to Helter?" asked Captain James.

"I am his brother-in-law."

F. P. Eckert, of Port Washington, said: "I am a liveryman, and I saw in the papers that this suit was commenced. I came to Coshocton last Tuesday morning. I saw Helter in Port Washington May 13. He came to a certain place and paid for a rig he had used. I saw him the day before when he came to my barn and got a rig. He was alone when he paid for the rig. When he spoke for the rig his brother-in-law, Mr. Kinsey, was with him. He got a bay horse and a red geared buggy. I saw him going down street and his wife was with him. He was going east toward Gnadenhutten."

On cross examination he said: "I am not related to Helter or his wife. My wife's name was Stocker. She is a cousin of Mrs. Helter."

"That's all," said Captain James.

John Helter was next called. "I am the brother of George Helter and live near Gnadenhutten. The other members of the family are my brother, sister, mother and wife. The suit was begun May 20. George was home May 12. He arrived home about noon. His wife was with him. They came in a buggy with black bed and red running gears. He drove a bay horse and they stayed until the next morning. I don't know where they went but it was in the direction of Gnadenhutten. I have never seen Mrs. Helter since. I saw George May 19. He had been in Uhrichsville. My sister Anna was with him. We talked and drove down to see Sam Walter. We came back to the Moravian church and went home. George went into the house and sat there. He stayed until afternoon when he went with Anna to Uhrichsville. They drove a small bay horse. The buggy had red gear and black box. He came back after that but I don't know when. He was there a week or so ago. Mrs. Helter was last there May 12.

On cross examination he said: "I am a brother of the plaintiff. I have the interest in this case that a brother would have. I didn't see Mrs. Helter last night. I was in the parlor at the Park with my sister Anna, but I am stopping at Mrs. Barringer's. It don't matter much to me whether Roche or George wins. I havn't thrown George overboard."

Miss Annie Helter took the stand. She said: "I am the sister of George W. Helter. This suit was filed May 20. I came to Coshocton yesterday morning. He was at our home last Sunday and the Sunday before. He was alone. I saw George the evening of May 18 at Uhrichsville. I was teaching school there. I have been teaching there five years. I received a telegram from him asking me to meet him at the depot and I went. We walked up street to get a horse and buggy to drive to my mother's home. We stayed with my sister all night. The next morning we drove to Gnadenhutten, and went to church. We then went home, and in the afternoon drove to Uhrichsville. George stayed all night and came to Coshocton the next morning.

"I know Joshua Price. I saw him sitting on the porch of his son. We were driving along the road. George got to Uhrichsville that evening at 8:15. I last saw Mrs. Helter about the first of May. No, I saw her in the dining room at the hotel the first morning I came."

On cross examination she said: "This suit was filed May 20. I know it because I read it in the Uhrichsville Chronicle. I don't remember the exact day but it was along the first of the week of May 20. I remember it because my brother Charles' commencement exercises were on the 24th and I attended those, and I remember he was at our house the Sunday before. I knew when his commencement exercises was and I had a program and could easily count back. I counted it here. I looked at the Chronicle the first of the week. It was after Monday," and then the witness was allowed to go. She was dressed in steel gray, trimmed in black lace, and wore bracelets and a watchchain. Her hat was black.

J. P. Adams was called and said he had just arrived from dinner. He said: "I live at 611 Vine street. I know Wesley McCleary. He talked to me about this suit July 21 in front of Howard Hahn's house on Cherry street. He told me he had seen nothing suspicious about the Helter house and he was coming down to tell what he knew.

Mrs. Will Clark said. "I was on the stand once before. I know Wesley McCleary. Soon after this case was begun he came to my house and asked if I had seen anyone beside Roche around the Helter house and said any one who had seen anybody else around the house could make a pile of money by telling it."

Mrs. John Lockard said: "I know know Wesley McCleay. The latter part of May or the first of June he called at my house and asked me if I had seen any other men except Roche around the Helter house."

Ed H. Wilson said: "I am a cigar manufacurer. I know Frank Moore. Last summer or fall I was hitching up in the alley near my barn when Moore was there. He said there was going to be a — of a scandal in this town. I asked who it was. He said it was Helter's wife and Judge Roche. I told him he ought to be careful about saying anything about it unless he knew it to be a fact."

W. M. Smith said: "About the middle of last summer Frank Moore passed my barn and said 'you are going to hear about a big stink in our part of the town. Judge Roche is running after Helter's wife.' Another time he said 'If you fellows want to catch Judge Roche you can get him at Helter's most every night.'"

J. W. Thomson said: "Frank Moore told me there was going to be a big sensation one of these days. I asked him who it was and he said Judge Roche and Helter's wife."

W. G. Hay said: "Frank Moore told me he had seen Judge Roche around Helter's house a good deal."

"Smith Jones said: "I was at a picnic in Dresden two years ago this fall. Helter was there. He went home on No. 32. He walked over to the train with me, and we loafed around until train time between six and seven o'clock. I don't know who he was with on the train. To the best of my knowledge he was alone when he got on the train. I know Mrs. Bessie Kistler. I saw her at the picnic ground. I don't remember seeing her at Trinway. She lived on Second street. I never ate dinner in her house. I once saw Bessie Kistler at Helter's place of business, I was there with Helter when she came in. Some other lady was with her. To the best of my recollection she said we would have to treat. Helter and I we would have to go over and give them a glass of wine. Helter and I went over to the saloon and took a glass of wine. Then we walked out. I didn't purchase a quart bottle there. The wine was served in a little offset or entrance there. Before the women came to Helter's we were talking business. I loaned Mrs. Kistler $5 once. She was at our house It was my own money. I never gave her money to go to North Liberty or any other place. I don't know what she did with the $5 I loaned her. Helter never gave me money to give ber. She paid me the $5 back.

"I never delivered to Mrs. Kistler 50 or 60 letters of the kind I gave her.

"I didn't help along this courtship. I didn't know anything about it. There might have been money in the letters," he said to Captain James. "After I heard people talking about it I told Helter I wouldn't deliver any more. I told this to Helter because people were talking about such things. People were talking that they were corresponding."

Recess was called at this point in the proceedings, and when court opened Judge Eason ruled that neighborhood talk concerning the correspondence between Helter and Mrs. Kistler could only be given in substance. Continuing Mr. Jones said:

"People in Coshocton told me about it, I heard more of it here although I heard it at Isleta. That is why I refused to deliver more letters."

Mr. Merrell objected.

"Have you any authority?" asked Judge Eason. "An ounce of law is worth a pound of talk just now." The law was not produced and the witness said.

"The talk had reference to Helter and Bessie Kistler. It is not true that the reason I went to Helter was because I was going with Bessie Kistler. I didn't go into the Jeffries house with her about five or six o'clock in the evening. I never was in a carriage with her. Bessie Kistler's sister was with her at Dresden. I didn't walk around with her. I was on a political campaign.

"Mrs. Kistler and Mrs. Guthrie were treated that day on Second street by Helter. I had met Mrs. Guthrie before then and eaten a meal in her house in this town. Guthrie and I are friends. He never lived in our place but he visited at Doc's.

"Helter said to me. 'Let's go over and get a glass of wine.' Helter was in the door. I was standing back. I didn't say anything and we went over and got a glass of wine. Mr. Van Dusen was keeping just across the street. Mrs. Guthrie didn't live in there then. I heard people say Mrs. Stevenson kept the part not occupied by the saloon.

"I don't remember who crossed the street first, Helter and I went in the front door. I didn't see the women go in. They were in a little room off the bar when we got there. I don't know whether it was in Mrs. Stevenson's part of the building. The proprietor told us to step inside the room and he would bring it in. The women were there. Helter and I sat down at the table. Van Dusen brought the wine in and we were not long in drinking it, I believe three or four minutes. I went out right away. Helter came out and went over to the buggy ranch.

"I don't remember that I had any business with Helter that day. I just dropped in.

"I don't remember when I next saw Bessie Kistler or her sister. I may have seen her the next day at her home. I didn't think it was necessary to tell the doctor I had had a glass of wine with his wife.

"I loaned Bessie $5 about two years ago. She was living with her husband then. I didn't take her note for it. It may have been six months before she paid it back. I don't know why she wanted it. She was still living with her husband. She was considered a nice woman. I never heard anything about her until I heard this talk."

On redirect examination Mr. Jones said: "This was when I was a candidate. Roche was a candidate too."

"He was after votes," said Judge Hunter.

"But these women couldn't vote," replied Captain James.

"I don't remember whether Helter, Bessie Kistler, Mrs. Guthrie and myself had supper in a restaurant at Trinway the night of the Dresden picnic," said Mr. Jones. "I wouldn't swear whether we did or didn't."

Anderson Miller was called. He said: "I am 49 years old. I live north of Coshocton. I know Mr. Helter. I saw in the papers about the suit between Helter and Roche. I do not remember just when I saw Helter before the suit began. If you will let me look at my diary I can tell exactly." He looked at his diary and said it was May 14 before the suit began. "I was with him all day May 14. I next saw him May 16. I took him to Otsego in my buggy. We returned the next day. We left Coshocton for Otsego about noon, May 16."

Mr. Rausch wanted to know how Mr. Helter acted that day, if he noticed anything more than ordinary. Captain James objected, saying it is not charged that Mr. Helter's affections were alienated. The objection was sustained and an exception was dictated to the stenographer. The witness was excused.

Doctor DeYoe was put on the stand. He said: "I am a dentist and have been here for a little more than a year. I remember when John Robinson's show was in Coshocton. I was married May 8 to Miss Norma Heffelfinger. She was in my office all that day."

To Captain James he said: "She was in my office all that day from 9:30 o'clock. She came because we were to be married that evening. I did not have a woman in the city and board at the restaurant with her and call her my wife. She stayed at my office some in the day time before we were married. I did not bring her with me to this city. She came to me about a week after I came to this city. She came here to do nursing. I did not pass her off at Tyler's restaurant as my wife. I do not know why we both boarded there. She paid for her own meals. I don't remember how long she boarded there while I did. She sometimes went away and would come back. She did laboratory work in my office. I have been married twice."

Mrs. Londquist was questioned by Mr. Wheeler. "My husband and I run the Oak hotel on Hickory street. We have been there about five years. I have seen Mr. Helter often enough to know him. He has never been in our hotel. He never rented a room there or stayed there all night."

To Mr. Adams she said: "I was divorced from my husband once in five years. I have been married to him three times and divorced twice. I was divorced in February 1898 and I came back in January 1899." Mrs. Londquist asked to be excused for a short time because her nose was bleeding. She returned in a few minutes and the cross examination continued: "I was away from the hotel from Feb. 1898 to Jan. 1899 and could not say whether Mr. Helter or Bessie Kistler stayed there one night during that time. I go to see my people some times but not more than twice a year. When I went to visit I did not stay very long. I was away once nine days. I cannot tell who was at the hotel while I was away. I know no woman stayed there while I was visiting except our help. My husband runs his part of the hotel and I take charge of my part. Charles Waddell is our bartender. He has been there about five years. There are two ways upstairs. I carry the keys to the second story. Mr. Londquist did have the keys part of the time. I am willing to say to this jury that I know every one who occupies rooms in the hotel. I do not know whether the rooms were rented out while I was away."

Judge Hunter said they had two more witnesses in rebuttal and he wanted court to adjourn to allow them to look over ther notes. He said he would guarantee it would shorten the examination so far as they were concerned. Court adjourned at 4:45 o'clock.

SATURDAY MORNING

George W. Helter Was the First Witness Called.

When court convened Saturday morning George W. Helter was placed on the stand. To Judge Hunter he said:

"After my wife's confession was signed May 18 I went to Uhrichsville on the Dennison accommodation. My sister Anna met me at the train, and we went to Uhrich's livery stable and engaged a rig for Sunday. I had left my wife in Coshocton. She was not with me on the trip. My sister and I drove to Uhrichsville the next morning. We saw Joshua Price sitting on the porch at his son's house. My wife was not with me. Joshua Price did not see me with my wife.

"Sunday night I stayed in Uhrichsville and came here on Monday morning. Henry Stofer did not see me with my wife. The marshall did not see me with my wife. Everett saw me with my brother that day.

"I was at the Dresden picnic. I went there to collect an account from Mr. Wright, of Cooperdale, and on a political mission for Tom Roche. I saw Bessie and took dinner with her. There were several there. When I left the picnic I walked to Trinway with Smith Jones. I didn't get in the carriage with Bessie Kistler. I did not take her to a hotel and have supper with her. When the train came I got on and came to Coshocton.

"I am not acquainted with Susie Wills. I was at Guthrie's during that summer. I do not recollect seeing Mrs. Wills there. I was there several times. I went to see a Mr. Sailor across the hill and to collect a note. I was at Guthrie's for dinner once. I was there when Bessie Kistler was there. I never sat at the piano with my arm around her. No sir I did not.

"I wrote Bessie Kistler one letter. It was addressed to herself and husband. I never sent letters to Smith Jones under cover for her. I never received a letter from her. Jones came to my place of business and said he had received a couple of letters under cover for Bessie Kistler, and he wanted me to quit sending them. He said he was only joking.

"I wrote Doctor and Mrs. Kistler that I understood they wanted to buy a phaeton and as I was about to purchase a car of goods I would have it come in that. They wrote back and said they had not decided what they would do.

"I accompanied my wife to Diamond Jack's show. She never went in the evening unless I was there. She got the album but not the diamond ring. Some lady in the eastern part of town got it. The album was taken home. The pictures of Diamond Jack and Elsie May were in it.

"Mrs. Zugschwert rented part of our house. There was trouble between her and my wife. I ordered her out of the house. She said she had not been talking about my wife except to call her Elsie May and she didn't think it was wrong. I called my wife, and she said Mrs. Zugschwert had called her unpleasant names. They didn't move out.

"I called on Mrs Zugschwert a couple of weeks ago. I went to see Miss Fink to get Mrs. Schaeffer's address. I wanted to show they were lying on him here. Mrs. Zugschwert came along and was talking to a lady. When she got through we walked to her house. I told her I understood she knew something about the case. She said she did but she had promised her husband to say nothing. She said some were claiming she and I had been talking together and there would be another divorce suit. I said I had never talked to her but once, and she said if I was seen talking to her on the street my wife might object. I said I didn't care who my wife saw talking with me. I was done with her. That is all the conversation. There were no improper relations between Mrs. Zugschwert and myself.

"Roche came to my house to get his rig. He stopped at the kitchen door and showed his picture to my wife and she called after him and asked for one. He gave me a bunch of them to be used in his campaign. I didn't see Mrs. Zugschwert about the place. The pictures were good and well gotten up.

"I know David Davis. I went to see him and asked him to go with me and show me where I could find Ed Guthrie. We walked to the mine and sent in for Guthrie. He came out and we went under a shade tree and talked. He said he could not say a word against me. I said if the other witnesses would come here and tell the truth I didn't care but if they would come here and perjure themselves they would get into trouble.

"I have the honor of the acquaintance of Charles Leasure. He was in business next to me. I have taken women into my buggy room. Women came there to look after buggies. No women came there for improper purposes. If Bessie ever came for that purpose she was disappointed. Mrs. Guthrie was with her when she came to my store. Nothing occurred the first time. The second time her sister was with her. Once she came by herself and I was out. When I came back she was at my desk. She asked me if I had seen her sister. I said I had and she had gone up town. Bessie went away.

"I never had improper relations with Mrs. Kistler. I was at Mrs. Guthrie's. Charley Leasure was not there. Nothing improper occurred. I didn't see Bessie Kistler. I didn't have a conversation with Choppy Leasure about Bessie Kistler. I didn't say to him I had 'good times' with her. I never was in Bess Kistler's place.

"Robinson's circus was here the fore part of May. I was not with Leasure. I don't know Norma Heffelfinger. I was not with Leasure and met her and another woman and made a proposition to go out and have a good time. I was with my wife all that day. I was with her in the evening.

"I know J. C. Milligan. I never sat on the steps at Sade Stevenson's with my arm around a woman. That's a sour grapes story from Mr. Milligan. We are not good friends.

"I was not intimate with those girls on Second street. I didn't lay and act the fool with them on the sidewalk.

IT'S NO USE—

A man simply can't make any sort of success in business if he's tortured with backache.

That means if his kidneys are out of order.

Backache is really kidney ache.

It is one of the first indications of kidney disease. It's bad enough of itself, but it leads to a great deal worse.

Unless it is stopped.

How?

Doan's Kidney Pills

There's no form of kidney trouble that this wonderful little remedy will not cure, and the people stay cured.

Dr. C. [illegible], of Toledo, Ohio, whose office is at 141 Main street, East Toledo, says:

"The use of gin, buchu and nitre for the kidneys is unnecessary when Doan's Kidney Pills can be procured at any drug store. Ignorance of the effects of the drugs I mention on the kidneys, invariably leads to disaster. Doan's Kidney Pills taken as directed will lead to a cure. I had backache for years, not steadily but coming on in persistent attacks. More out of idle curiosity than expecting any result, it struck me after reading some dozen or so statements made through the Toledo newspapers by people who had been cured by using Doan's Kidney Pills, that I would just see how that remedy acted. To my surprise it cured the last attack. It takes very little stretch of the imagination to reason that what has cured can be relied upon if attacks should occur in the future."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

ENCKE'S COMET.

It Is Expected to Return In September of the Present Year.

Among the periodic comets due in 1901 is Encke's comet, which is expected to return to perihelion about the middle of September. Its last return to perihelion took place on May 24, 1898, the same day on which it also occurred at the first predicted return in 1822. The prediction was made by Johann Franz Encke, after whom the comet has been named, and he detected the periodicity of the comet in 1819.

The comet had been frequently observed during the preceding 50 years, and as soon as the elements of its orbit had been computed and compared with the elements of the orbits of comets which had previously appeared it was found to be the same comet which had been observed in 1786, 1795 and 1805. Having thus identified the comet at four different returns to perihelion, Encke was enabled to ascertain the period of its revolution with great precision, the result being 3½ years, the comet having the shortest known time of revolution and being the first of the short period comets.

Encke predicted its return for 1822, making due allowance for planetary perturbations, and on account of its position in the heavens he announced that the comet would only be visible in the southern heavens. The return of the comet was therefore looked for by astronomers living in that part of the world and during the month of June was sighted by a watcher at Paramatta, in New South Wales. The next return was predicted to take place in 1825, and on the 13th of July, true to its appointed time, the comet was observed by Valz at Nismes.

The next return took place in 1828, when it was first seen by Struve at Dorpat, in Russia, on Oct. 13 of that year, and remained under observation at the European observatories until Dec. 25. On Nov. 7, 1828, Professor Struve made a series of observations of the comet, and he noticed a star of the eleventh magnitude so near the center of brightness in the comet that he mistook it at first for the nucleus. The brightness of the star was not in the least perceptible degree diminished by the mass of cometary matter through which its light had passed. By Nov. 30 the comet had greatly increased in brightness, and this must be ascribed to the contraction and consequent condensation of the nebulous matter of which it is composed as it receded from the sun.

In 1832 the comet again returned to its perihelion, but, being unfavorably situated for observation, it was only seen by Harding at Gottingen on Aug. 21. However, it was observed by Henderson at the Cape of Good Hope during the entire month of June and was also seen at Buenos Ayres. In 1835 it was observed from July 22 till Aug. 6, and in 1838 it was seen at Breslau on Aug. 14 as a very faint, ill defined object. It subsequently increased in brilliancy and continued visible until the middle of December.

In combining all the observations which had been made from 1786 to 1838 inclusive, Encke found that the period of revolution of the comet was regularly diminishing by about 2½ hours at each return to perihelion.

This effect he attributed to the retarding action of a resisting medium in space. This theory seemed to be confirmed by observations made at the return of the comet in 1842, 1848, 1852, 1855, 1858, 1862 and up to 1868, but at its return in 1868 the acceleration had fallen to one-half its customary and until then constant value. The change has proved permanent, and accumulated facts bid fair to banish the theory of a "resisting medium" out of existence.

The comet has been seen at every return to perihelion lately, the dates of its visits being 1895, 1898, and it is now looked for in 1901. It has been described as irregular in form and "lumpy" in appearance, seldom showing a well defined nucleus. Under very favorable circumstances it can be seen with the unaided eye, but is usually visible only in the telescope. It does not exhibit much in the way of jets and envelopes, and the train, when visible, is but a degree or two in length.—M. Proctor in Scientific American.

DECORATED BY EDWARD VII

Honor For Miss Chapin, American Missionary in China.

Word has been received by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions from the state department at Washington of an unusual distinction accorded to one of the board's missionaries in China, Miss Abbie G. Chapin, says the New York World. In recognition of special services rendered during the siege of Peking Miss Chapin has received the Royal Red Cross decoration from King Edward VII. Sir Ernest Satow made the presentation at the British legation on July 23.

The Order of the Royal Red Cross was founded by Queen Victoria 18 years ago, and up to this time, including the four presented during the siege, only 92 medals have been conferred. Miss Chapin has been connected with the American board for eight years and is the daughter of American missionaries in China.

"THE LESSON."

As Rudyard Kipling Did Not Write the Poem.

It was our fault and our very great fault that angered the Lord to smite,
And black are the weeds the widows wear for the bones on the veldt bleached white.
The bones bleach white on the rain washed veldt where the red stain lingers long
To bid us curb our stiff necked pride and purge our souls of wrong.

It was our fault and our very great fault and the fault of the languid world
That looked unmoved where the guns were grouped and the battleflags unfurled,
And the lesson runs for all the world. Take heed that right is might
When an empire reaches forth to grasp, but a people leagues to fight.

It was our fault and a very great fault, and the fault shall cost us dear,
For our thanes are blind, and they will not see, and deaf and they will not hear,
But the lesson runs till the end of time, though we flout it in our pride,
How a people leagued to fight for their homes and did not yield, but died!

Chamberlain Defends Them in Speech to Parliament.

COLONIAL SECRETARY ON THE CARPET

After Giving Him a Few Pokes the House Refused to Reduce His Salary—In Defending His War Policy Jo Admitted Farmburning and Employment of Kaffirs to Fight Boers.

London, Aug. 3.—It was just a bit uncomfortable for Colonial Secretary Chamberlain in the house of commons last night. During a discussion over the colonial office appropriation, on a motion pro forma to reduce the secretary's salary £100, which was in the end defeated, opponents of the government had occasion to give Mr. Chamberlain some cutting thrusts.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, said in view of the patience with which the nation had for 21 months endured Mr. Chamberlain's policy in South Africa, he thought it opportune to secure a statement from the colonial secretary as to the war situation. He went on to point out that Cape Colony was invaded and overrun with Boers; and he asked what prospect there was of repelling the invaders, what the condition of Cape Colony would be after the war, what was the prospect of famine as a result of the government's "policy of devastation," and where was Cape Colony's constitution, which appeared to him to be under lock and key since martial law was declared.

Mr. Chamberlain replied that farmburning had been entirely abandoned and replaced by the policy of concentration camps. He contended that these were humane and satisfactory institutions, as had been shown by the fact that thousands of Boers came into them voluntarily. "The government has the best reasons to believe," continued the colonial secretary, "that a vast majority of the Boers acknowledge themselves beaten, and would gladly surrender and resume peaceful pursuits, but for the comparative handful of irreconcilables, who are carrying on a guerrilla war that is rapidly degenerating into brigandage and absolute murder. Lord Kitchener is adequately dealing with the problem by establishing block house condons within which the peacefully inclined can settle and be protected."

Regarding the announcement by Lord Kitchener that Commandant Kribenger had declared his intenton to shoot all natives in British employ, whether armed or unarmed, Mr. Chamberlain said the government had telegraphed Lord Kitchener to inform the Boer leaders that such acts were contrary to civilized usage and that all guilty persons of this class, if captured, would be courtmartialed and summarily executed.

"There seems to be an impression that we have come to some sort of an agreement with the Boers," said Mr. Chamberlain in another portion of his speech, "that natives are not to be employed in this war; but there is no such agreement. Incursions into protected districts must be more severely dealt with if there is to be 'sniping' of soldiers from behind hedges, and even of women."

"Rubbish!" cried an Irish member. Mr. Chamberlain retorted that he had met some women who had been assaulted in this way. "If things have changed from bad to worse in Cape Colony," he continued, "it is because the Cape rebels have found rebellion a cheap, interesting and even amusing performance. Then there has been mistaken leniency, and this was the policy in the past.

Sir Edward Gray, Liberal imperialist, expressed bitter disappointment at the tone of Mr. Chamberlain's speech, although he agreed with the general military policy of the government. He said the colonial secretary had dealt carelessly with the subject of employing native troops and had not distinguished between Africans and highly trained Indian troops.

John Redmond said Mr. Chamberlain's speech was a candid, if somewhat brutal, exposition of the government's policy, and he prayed to God that the resistance of the Boers might be strengthened.

In Portuguese Territory.

London, Aug. 3.—The Boers who are invading Portuguese territory, says a Lourenzo Marques correspondent, are about 500 in number. They crossed the line near Nanetzi and are now going northward toward Komatipoort. A Swiss farmer reports that his farm buildings have been burned and his stock has been driven off, and that his wife and servants are missing. Although the Portuguese authorities are preparing to make a vigorous resistance, only 144 men under Captain Almeida are pursuing the Boers.

Kruger Says Fight On.

London, Aug. 3.—A dispatch from Standerton, Transvaal, dated July 5, which had been stopped by the censor, has just been received here. It reads: "Walter Kitchener met Louis Botha and his secretary, Dewet, by appointment, near Platrand, a few days ago. They brought Kruger's reply to Botha's surrender proposal. It was: 'Botha, Dewet, Delary, Stein: Continue fighting. Alleviation will be sent when needed. Enough for the present.'"

Oom Paul Going to Russia.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—Mr. Vanderhoven, secretary of the Transvaal legation in Brussels, is in St. Petersburg to attend a wedding, after which he will visit his mother, who is a Russian. He declares his journey has no political significance, despite the reports that Mr. Kruger and Dr. Leyds are coming here.

QUICK LOADING OF SHIPS.

New Device Soon to Be Tested In New York Harbor.

The rapid loading or discharging of a vessel's cargo is always a matter of much importance and interest to shippers and ship owners. In the course of a few weeks a barge equipped with a patent device will be exhibited in New York harbor. It is known as an automatic vessel discharging and conveying apparatus and, according to the promoters of the enterprise, it will revolutionize the handling of grain, coal, ore, etc. The two main advantages claimed for this conveyor over present systems are the saving both in cost and time.

This new delivery barge is devised to overcome difficulties experienced in coaling warships and vessels of all kinds in dock and in harbor and especially in coaling them away from land, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. Its application, however, will extend, it is claimed, to the cheap and rapid handling of all kinds of materials now moved in vessels and barges and unloaded by the comparatively slow and costly means of buckets, shovels, barrows and the like.

The system, which is soon to be given a practical test at New York, consists of a barge or other vessel, a conveyor running substantially the length of the vessel on a line with the keel and with a compartment underneath the entire load carried, a feed controlling the flow of material upon the conveyor or conveyor belt, an elevator receiving the material as it is discharged by the conveyor and elevating same to a point above the deck of the barge, and an outboard conveyor to receive the material from the delivery end of the elevator and to discharge it at the point desired. All of the cargo may be elevated and unloaded at varying heights and angles.

The estimated cost of delivering material out of this patent barge is from 1 to 3 cents per ton, varying with the character of materials and the conditions of handling. The rates for unloading from barges now in use run from 15 cents to 40 cents and over. As to the saving in time, coal, for instance, cannot now be unloaded from barges and placed in steamships faster than 40 tons an hour, taking ten hours to unload the average barge of 400 tons. By the new system, it is asserted, coal can be delivered on steamer at the rate of from 300 to 600 tons an hour, according to the size of the coaling barge and conveyor belt used.

Cresceus Lowers His Record.

Columbus, O., Aug. 3.—George H. Ketcham's champion trotting stallion Cresceus, who lowered the world's record last week at Cleveland, cut down his record half a second in his race against time on the Columbus track Friday. A stiff wind in the horse's face on the home stretch undoubtedly prevented a faster mile. The quarters were 29¾, 59¾, 1:30¼, 2:02¼. On the fifth score Ketcham took the word and when he finished the record breaking tour of the track there was wild applause and three cheers were given for man and horse, after Mr. Ketcham made a brief speech from the judge's stand. The time for the first half mile also is a record breaker.

Village Conflagration.

Ottawa, O., Aug 3.—The little village of Glandorf, one mile west of here, was visited by a fire which entirely consumed the following buildings: The large planing mill of F. N. Ellis & Co., William Fox's general store, Peter Rosengarten's wagon shop and dwelling, John Schmeliebuschs dwelling and Stephen Kloeppel's dwelling. Total loss $30,000. The blaze originated in the engine room of the planing mill.

JUDGE LYNCH RULED IN TWO CASES.

Negro Dispatched by a Mob After Coroner's Jury Fixed His Guilt. Prisoner on Trial For Criminal Outrage Seized and Strung Up For Defaming His Victim's Character.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 3.—With a rope around his neck and death before him, Charley Bentley, a negro, confessed to the murder of Jim Vann, alias Williams, a white man, and was hanged by a mob in Leeds, St. Clair county, Ala. The murderer's body was riddled with bullets and left hanging to the limb of a tree. The coroner's jury had just returned a verdict fixing the responsibility of the murder on Bentley. Members of the mob learned of the verdict and a crowd quickly gathered around the prisoner, and unbeeding his pleas for mercy, hanged him. The murder was committed early in the morning while Vann and his wife and child were asleep in a camp three miles from Leeds. Vann's skull was crushed with a large rock and his slayer then grabbed the woman around the throat, but she screamed and the negro ran into the woods.

Farmers living in the vicinity of the place answered the appeals for help and began a search for the murderer. By a hole in the bottom of Bentley's shoe they followed his tracks to his house near by and into the woods some distance away, where they found him.

Bentley at first denied his guilt, but confessed when taken to the tree to be hanged. Bentley gave no reason for his crime and the citizens could assign none except an intended assault on the woman.

Reviled the Girl He Ruined.

Smithville, Tenn., Aug. 3.—The first lynching in the annals of Dekalb county took place when Charley Davis, who was charged with criminal assault on Miss Kate Hues, was taken from the courthouse by a mob of about 25 friends and relatives of the young woman and hanged about a quarter of a mile from town. The girl's father, Milton Hues, is a prominent grocer here. The assault on Miss Hues was committed last Sunday evening. Monday morning Davis was taken before a magistrate. He submitted his case and the trial was set for Friday. The defense produced witnesses to attack the girl's character. The father had said he would not join or allow any violent measures unless this action was taken by the defendant. When the witness began to give his testimony the friends and relatives of the girl arose and made for him. He tried to escape by jumping from the window but was seized. In the melee, during which several shots were fired, Sheriff Odum, his deputy, Robert Odum, Constable Pass and the father of the prisoner, who tried to resist the mob, were wounded. After Davis was lynched the mob dispersed.

Official Hanging In Texas.

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 3. — Juan Rocha was hanged in the county jail for the murder of John Grimsinger about a year ago. Rocha was an aged Mexican servant of the Grimsinger family and was deeply devoted to Mrs. Grimsinger. She lived unhappily with her husband and induced the old Mexican to kill him while he slept. The evidence showed that plans had been made to that end for more than two weeks. Mrs. Grimsinger is serving a life sentence for the crime.

Double Hanging In Florida.

St. Augustine, Aug. 3.—A large crowd assembled at the jail yard to witness the execution of James Kirby and Robert Lee, who were condemned to die for the murder of Julius Eskew last May. Lee was found guilty as an accessory. On the gallows he protested that he was innocent. Kirby's neck was broken by the fall, while Lee struggled for life about 15 minutes and died from strangulation. The best of order prevailed.

Legal Hanging in Georgia.

LaGrange, Ga., Aug. 3.—Edmond Scott was hanged here for the murder of two negro women named Carrie and Mina Hugely.

Russia's Industrial Stagnation.

London, Aug. 3.—As evidence of the ruinous stagnation of trade in southern Russia, says a dispatch from Odessa, a government factory inspector asserts that 70 per cent of all the industrial works of the great manufacturing government at Ekaterinoslav have suspended, and in order to relieve distress and to prevent disturbances 40,000 artisans have been deported to their homes in the interior at the expense of the government.

Protocol Prepared.

Peking, Aug. 3.—The protocol committee of the ministers of the powers has virtually finished the draft of the protocol and will submit the same for approval to the other ministers. All questions will be signed in the course of a few days unless there should be some disagreement as to the phraseology, resembling the discussion that arose over the word "irrevocable" in the early stages of the negotiations. Should such a hitch occur, the signing may be indefinitely delayed.

Cadillac Is the Defender.

Chicago, Aug. 3. — Cadillac of Detroit has been officially selected to defend the Canadas cup against the Canadian challenger Invader. The decision was reached by the judges after the Cadillac had won another decisive victory over the Milwaukee, beating her over the line by about 11 minutes.

IN ONE NIGHT

A Town of 10,000 People Springs Up In Oklahoma.

Fort Sill, O. T., Aug. 3.—Lawton, a town having fully 10,000 inhabitants, has grown up just outside the Fort Sill limits, within a night. Following the close of the land lottery at El Reno thousands of homeseekers who drew blanks started for the three points picked out by the federal government for town sites in the new country, namely, Anadarko, Hobart and Lawton. A majority of the people favored Lawton, which is 25 miles inland, and thousands are camped in and about the proposed town awaiting the sale of lots Aug. 6.

Every form of gambling known on the frontier is being run wide open, side by side with fake shows of various descriptions, and to add to the picturesque scene 1,000 Comanche Indians have pitched their tents near by.

Already Lawton has 400 temporary business houses, including a grocery firm and a newspaper, and three streets have been laid out. A national bank has been projected.

Failed Without Assets.

New York, Aug. 3.—Samuel M. Rosenberger of this city was arrested on an indictment charging him with fraudulent disposition of property and grand larceny. He was held in $4,000 bail. Rosenberger was in partnership with Hyman J. Reuben at 101 Wooster street. They failed two weeks ago with liabilities of $100,000 and practically no assets. The indictment for fraudulent disposition of property was founded on an affidavit made by J. Kridel Sons & Co. and William Schroeder & Co., who declare they sold goods to the firm July 8, three days before the failure. Replevin proceedings failed to locate the goods and they were not entered on the books. Reuben also was indicted, but detectives were unable to locate him, and it is believed he is in Canada.

Jury Could Not Agree.

Denver, Aug. 3.—The jury in the case of W. W. Anderson, charged with the shooting of H. H. Tammen and F. G. Bonfils, proprietors of the Evening Post, after considering the testimony six and a half days, reported its inability to agree upon a verdict, and was discharged. The shooting occurred Jan 13. This was the second trial, the other having ended in disagreement.

Quartermaster Clerk Missing.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 3.—Word was received here from Victoria of the alleged defalcation of Quartermaster Clerk John McCaull, and his disappearance from the United States transport Ogbert, on which he was assigned to duty. His shortage is said to be $5,463. The Ogbert sailed for Alaska July 31.

Traction Strike at Erie, Pa.

Erie, Pa., Aug. 3.—The motormen and conductors, 150 men, of the Erie Electric Motor company, operating 28 miles of city and suburban trolley lines, struck on account of the dismissal of five men who were active in forming a union. ## Steel Trust Officials Yield to Demand For Conference.

STRIKE LEADERS GO TO NEW YORK.

Amalgamated Executive Board Spent Another Day Without Reaching Final Results Except For Renewal of Negotiations With the Magnates. Various Labor Movements.

Pittsburg, Aug. 3.—Instead of flatly refusing the request of the Amalgamated officials for another conference in order to bring about a settlement of steel strike, officers of the United States Steel corporation appointed an hour for meeting the executive board of the Amalgamated Association in New York this morning. The decision to meet them was announced in a message sent direct to President Shaffer Friday afternoon. At once the members of the board made arrangements to leave for New York. They hurried through their sesison and at 10 o'clock Friday night all were on board the Pittsburg limited bound for the east. The representatives of the labor organization numbered 15 all told. Secretary Williams said the only member absent was Vice President C. H. Davis of Chicago. He said the members had no idea whom they would meet in New York and could place no estimate on the time that would be occupied in the metropolis.

Many telegrams were received Friday at the association's conference rooms, the last coming just before adjournment, and it was answered promptly. This answer was, in all probability, the announcement to the New York people that the trip would be made by the officials, carrying out an arrangement entered into at Veryl Preston's rooms in the Hotel Henry a short time before. The understanding is that at this meeting Mr. Preston made known the combination's only concession in the matter of reopening the wage conference where it left off three weeks ago. This concession was in the shape of a demand that if a new conference is granted it must be specifically stated beforehand what is expected to be accomplished, what ground is to be covered and what companies are to participate. The mission of the Amalgamated Association's high officials to New York was to convince the steel people there that a new conference is essential to peace and an amicable settlement of the strike troubles.

Senator Hanna's Statement.

Canton, O., Aug. 3.—Senator M. A. Hanna, who is here on a visit to President McKinley, gave out a statement denying as erroneous the reports connecting him with efforts to settle the great steel strike. "I am just as anxious to have the strike settled as is the vast majority of the people, but I am taking no part in the negotiations," he declared. He says that his visit is purely social and that his meeting with Senator Cullom of Illinois was coincidental. The two senators, with the president, spent the afternoon talking over many matters that are to come up in the next session of congress. Senator Cullom left for Chicago.

Another Victory For Machinists.

Sharon, Pa., Aug. 3.—The machinists' strike at the National steel works and the Sharon steel plant was settled by William A. Shaw of Pittsburg, business agent of the International Association of Machinists for this district. The bases of settlement are as follows: An advance in wages of 60 cents per day, pay and one-half for overtime and 58½ hours to constitute a week's work. The company agreed to discharge all nonunion men at work within 15 days. The American Steel Casting company refused to grant the terms agreed upon by the National and Sharon steel companies.

Furnacemen Await the Outcome.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 3.—The furnance operators of the valley announced that they will take no action towards a sympathetic strike until the outcome of the conference between the Amalgamated Association and the United States Steel corporation is known. The operators threatened to strike on account of the order placed for 40,000 tons of Bessemer pig to be delivered to the United States Steel corporation during August.

Tampa's Cigar Strike.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 3. — The entire business community is more aroused than ever on account of the manifesto signed by the manufacturers declaring they would move their factories to another city if the citizens of Tampa did not suppress the leaders of the Resistencia strikers and protect them in their own business. The manufacturers represent over $40,000,000. The Resistencia strikers received one lot of 7,000 chickens.

Knoxville's Streetcar Strike.

Knoxville, Aug. 3.—The Knoxville Traction company proposed to reinstate all men who quit work because other men had been discharged, presumably because they belonged to the union. Five experienced streetcar men arrived from Nashville. They were met by strikers and two were persuaded not to go to work. One car was ditched by grease being put on the track on a very heavy grade.

Orientals Join the Strikers.

San Francisco, Aug. 3. — The new feature in the strike situation here involves oriental labor. The Japanese labor union voluntarily called upon Japanese employed on the water front to stand with the strikers, and the Chinese crew of the steamer Coptic was prohibited from working ashore by the federal authorities in pursuance of the exclusion act.

"I was in a saloon between the store property and the brick building that I don't recollect of being in there with Smith Jones and two women. I didn't ask Van Dusen to get a room for two women. I didn't take two women into Van Dusen's place and and treat them to wine.

"I know Bertha Mossholder. She lived next door to my place of business. I never invited her to go to Columbus or to drive with me. I never had a conversation with her except to bid her the time of day. I don't know whether she is a woman of the town.

"I got acquainted with Bessie Kistler some time in the spring of 1899. She came to my place of business with her sister. I never went to Dresden with her. I never made an appointment and never met her at Newark. I never was in Mt. Vernon in my life. I never met her there.

"I was at the state fair in 1899. I met Bessie Kistler and her husband on the ground. I saw her with her husband on the ground. Her sister was with her on the train. I think it was No. 20, but I left Columbus a little after 12 that night. Bessie, her sister and Alex Stewart and other Coshocton people were on the train. I talked to the women as I talked to the rest of them. I asked Mrs. Guthrie to have Mr. Guthrie vote for Roche, and she said he would. I asked Mrs. Kistler to have her husband vote for him and she said he would not as Roche ran after too many woman to suit him We got to Coshocton about 2 o'clock. I got off on the west side. I went down home. I didn't get on that train again that night. I didn't take Bessie from Newcomerstown to Isleta in a buggy. I didn't see Alex Stewart the next morning. I didn't tell him I had a good time the night before. He didn't tell me I had come down on the morning train. I didn't tell him he was onto me.

"I know where the Oak hotel is, but I never was in the house. I never engaged a room for Bessie Kistler in that house. I never occupied a room with her.

"I never paid her money. I never promised to protect her. I never asked her to come to this town. I never had occasion to have her leave her husband. I never instructed Jones to give her money, and I never gave her money directly or indirectly.

"I never tried to engage a room from Charley Waddel at the Oak hotel. I was never in the Oak.

"I made no arrangements with Bessie Kistler to meet me on the Canal Lewisville road. I don't remember that she drove out and met me on the road. It did not occur. We did not go to the Oak hotel. We did not start for Conesville the next day, and a man named Mizer and a girl did not catch up with us. I know several Mizers in Coshocton. I never was out with Mr. Mizer anywhere but once. He was the clerk of the court. We went down what is known as the six mile drive to see Mr. Miller. We then went over on the Wilson farm.

"I was at the fairground in 1899 with Bessie Kistler. She rode with me from the corner of Mr. Milligan's place of business. She asked if I knew where her sister was. I said she was at the fairground cooking for Jack Randles' men. We drove up Main street, and when we got there she went to her sister. If I had known she was not a respectable woman I would not have rode up street with her."

Helter was not cross examined.

Judge Eason said even if it was necessary to hear witnesses in the afternoon he wanted the evidence closed Saturday.

"Call Mrs. Helter," said Mr. Rausch after recess. She had been in the witness room, and took the chair with her usual composure. She said:

"I know Mrs. Zugschwert. They occupied three rooms in our house on Second street. Mr. and Mrs. Hoagland lived with us for a time. I did not have a conversation with my sister, Mrs. Hoagland, telling her Schaeffer had paid me a compliment and I had given him a dime. I never paid him any money except for my lessons and music. I never talked with him about a view entitled 'The sweetest spot on earth,' and he did not say he knew a sweeter spot than that.

"During the campaign Mr. Helter and Mr. Roche came by and he showed me a pamphlet on which was his picture. I said I would like to have one and he said I could have a dozen. He gave them to Mr. Helter.

"One afternoon Mrs. Zugschwert talked about Diamond Jack. She asked me to go with her and we went the next morning. There were a number of people in his office. He sat in front of us and asked our errand. She said she had been bothered with stomach trouble and he thought it was catarrh of the stomach. She bought no medicine because she had no money. When we were leaving she said, 'I would like to have that diamond ring.' He said it was a man who was to get the ring and a woman the the earrings who guessed his weight. I did not sit on his lap. He did not say if I came back he would tell me his weight. I didn't tell him George would not allow it. She said if she decided to take treatment she would come back. I didn't tell him I would meet him at the Park hotel. I didn't meet him there. I didn't talk with her about writing to Diamond Jack. There was nothing said about mailing a letter to me.

"I was never in the balcony at the opera house with Diamond Jack or at any other time. I was never in the stairway with Diamond Jack. I was never at the show except when Mr. Helter was with me. I was never on the stage. I went one day after they had been here about two weeks to buy some medicine. The office was crowded with people. I got the medicine. I never was in the dressing room with Diamond Jack. I don't know where it is.

"Mr. McCleary worked our back yard on Cherry street. Mr. Schaeffer did not enter our house one morning in May and immediately afterward the blinds were pulled down. Some days he came to give me a lesson on the piano and in harmony. No man except Tom Roche ever called on me in the evening."

"We rest, your honor, said Judge Hunter, and Mrs. Helter walked down from the stand.

Charley Leasure was next called to correct a statement. He said: "I made a mistake when I said it was John Robinson's show when I met Helter that evening."

Judge Hunter objected to the testimony. Captain James said he expected to show that Leasure had been talking to someone about the occasion and then remembered it was Buffalo Bill's show. He immediately sought counsel for the defense and asked to be allowed to correct the statement.

Captain James said he never knew of a witness being denied that privilege. Judge Hunter said he would consent to the correction of the record if the defense would consent to the taking of the deposition of Mrs. De Voe. Captain James consented, but Judge Eason said the case could not be prolonged. Leasure's testimony was stricken out.

Bailiff Jeffries was called and said: "I know Bessie Kistler and once rented my Third street property to her. I know Smith Jones. I was coming out of my place one evening, and I met Bessie and Smith Jones coming into the house. I don't know how long he was in there. I spoke to them and said good evening."

That closed the testimony.

"How long do you want to argue this case?" asked Judge Eason

"Next week," said Judge Hunter.

"We will be satisfied with four hours," said Mr. Adams.

"We will be as easily satisfied," said Judge Hunter.

Judge Eason said Monday would be devoted to the arguments and the jury would be charged Monday evening.

It was decided to open court at 8 o'clock Monday morning, and court adjourned until that time.

DARING FEMININE NIMRODS.

Three Denver Women to Hunt Lions Alone.

Three women have just started from Denver into the wilds of the Rocky mountains to hunt what mountain lions and other wild game Vice President Roosevelt left, says the New York Journal. They are Mrs. Jeannette Putnam, Mrs. Thomas Chivington and Miss Lou Bergh. It is their intention to beat the record made by the vice president in the lion killing line.

Mrs. Putnam is the champion woman shot of Wisconsin. She has hunted all through that state and brought down much big game. Mrs. Chivington is a Chicago society woman and has had no experience in this line. Miss Bergh is a Denver stenographer and likewise has had no experience.

Speaking of the hunt the other day, Mrs. Putnam said:

"We intend to go after big game while on our camping trip, and I feel sure we can make a better catch than our distinguished vice president did on his recent trip to the wilds of Colorado."

The party will travel by stage 25 miles from Gypsum; from thence by wagon to Sweetwater lake, where the country is very wild, wildcats, mountain lions and bears being plentiful. They will sleep in a tent and eat nothing in the way of meat that they don't shoot.

Mrs. Putnam has been chosen guardian and general of the party, she having had much more experience in "roughing it." The party will remain two or three months.

Fire at Dayton Stove Works.

Dayton, O., Aug. 3.—The machine room, foundry and storage room of the Gem City Stove Works were destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $60,000, fairly well protected by insurance.

Interurban Car Wrecked.

Springfield, O., Aug. 3.—A car was wrecked by an open switch on the Dayton, Springfield and Urbana trolley line near Donnelsville, and 25 persons injured.

Phillips Makes a Statement.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—George H. Phillips issued a circular to customers of his firm, announcing that he will be able to resume active operations on the board of trade by Tuesday or Wednesday at the latest, possibly by Monday. The statement will also promise patrons of the company that before any new trades are made a complete and satisfactory summary of what the books show will be given to the public. Phillips asserts that the expert's examination of the firm's books makes it certain that the worst has been told, and that the firm is not a loser more than $300,000.

American Tourists Close-Fisted.

London, Aug. 3.—Visitors from America this year are more numerous than ever, but apparently as the American tourist increases in number he increases also in thriftiness. Cabmen, porters and hotel servants are one in declaring that the Americans are the least remunerative of their clients. This establishes a new reputation fo rthe American abroad.

TO NAME THE TICKET

Republicans Were in Convention at City Hall.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEETING

Was Held This Morning and the Temporary Organization Was Selected—Other Business.

The county Republican convention was in session at city hall to name a ticket and transact such other business as might come up.

The meeting of the central committee was called to order in city hall at 11 o'clock by Chairman Smith. W. B. McClure was made temporary chairman and C. H. Geidel temporary secretary of the convention, by motion of Levi Williams.

Chairman Smith recommended the appointment of committees in order that resolutions and other business in the hands of these committees might be handled without discussion on the floor of the convention. James Scott, of Adams Mills, was called to the chair and Smith moved that committees on resolutions, credentials, nomination and roll call be selected. The motion carried. He also moved the motion be put in proper form by A. P. Stewart, secretary of the central committee, and requested that W. H. Crawford present it to the convention.

THE CONVENTION.

All Was Harmony and the Ticket Was Named.

City hall was filled when the convention was called to order by Chairman W. B. McClure. The temporary organization was made permanent. The following ticket was named, there being no opposition:

Representative, S. A. Stowe, Isleta; treasurer, J. E. Glass, Coshocton; auditor, C. J. Glover, Coshocton; commissioner, J. T. Funk, Warsaw; sheriff, Hamilton Browning; infirmary director, I. J. Baker, Coshocton.

Two from each precinct were named as delegates to the senatorial convention. The following resolutions were introduced by J. F. Meek and passed:

"The Republicans of Coshocton county, in convention assembled this 3d day of August, 1901, resolve as follows:

"We re-affirm the National Republican platform of 1900 and the State platform of 1901, embodying, as they do, the principles that have made the term Republicanism synonymous with all that is great and sound in our government.

"The administration of President William McKinley has won the admiration of the world. Successful in war, honorable in peace, brilliant in diplomacy, supreme in commerce, thrifty in industry, our country's glory inspires the patriotic devotion of all true Americans. These are the fruits of a Republican administration presided over by the favorite son of our own beloved state, which has our own unqualified indorsement.

"The state administration of Governor George K. Nash has been wise, patriotic and clean. The public moneys have been expended with economy without parsimony, and the interests of the taxpayers and public have been jealously guarded. Our chief executive's conspicuous example of upholding the fair name of our state by the enforcement of law without fear or favor, meets our most hearty approval, together with all other acts of his administration, and we commend his reelection to the people of all sections and all parties.

"The state of Ohio is represented with rare distinction in the upper house of congress by two of the foremost statesmen of the present generation, Senators Joseph B. Foraker and Marcus A. Hanna, who have our hearty indorsement in their great works for their party and their country.

"In the contest for the Ohio senatorship this year we especially concur in the state platform indorsement of Senator Foraker for re-election, and our candidate for representative this day nominated is hereby instructed to use all honorable means to that end."

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

W. O. Wright Injured by the Discharge of a Rifle.

William O. Wright, who conducts a shooting gallery on Main street, was accidentally shot Friday evening at the gallery by an unknown boy.

The boy came to the gallery and took up a rifle as though to shoot at a target. The gun was discharged in some manner just as the boy raised the rifle and the ball struck Mr. Wright in the pelvic cavity. He was taken to the Mecca hotel and Dr. Marshall was called. After the wound was dressed Mr. Wright was taken to his home on Walnut street.

After the accident the boy, who was badly frightened, ran away and no one could learn his name. It is thought some one had put the rifle down with the hammer up. An operation may be necessary.
